Comments:

Since you have the power to approve this project, you also have the responsibility to protect our country and all of the citizens from harm. You must have the foresight to anticipate potential problems from the project approval. The owners of Gulftainer have had a hostile history towards the US. By allowing them access to our cargo container port, you expose us to a multitude of harmful potential actions. Anything could be brought into the port under their control, ie: EMP device, biological, nuclear, or conventional weapons. They would be devastating. You would be allowing our country to be blackmailed with these threats directly on shore. We do not even have a hardened protected power grid at this point for an EMP attack. The downside far outweighs any upside for this approval. Are there no US companies that are capable of running this cargo port? I urge you to deny approval. Sincerely, R Rano
