This is a terrible idea and will only hurt the citizens of Delaware, especially poor and people of color. The poor and people of color will not be able to afford an EV and we do not have the infrastructure to support this. The strip mining that will be needed to build these vehicles will result in slave labor in third world countries to produce the raw materials needed for the batteries.

If this is implemented, the people who can't afford to leave Delaware will have their standard of living lowered. As I sated the poor and people of color will not be able to afford EV cars and will have to keep repairing the old cars they have. This will cause the price of spare parts to skyrocket. Have you thought of that? Delaware will resemble Cuba, where their vehicles are frozen in time to the day Castro took over.

As a concerned Delawarean, I do not want you to implement this. The idea of 100% green energy is a fantasy, and will cause economic hardship to the citizens of Delaware especially the poor and citizens of color. Do not do this!
