Electric Car Mandate: I oppose the electric car mandate. I find the cars are very expensive and have a limited driving range. Once the power runs out there is no way to enter the car as everything becomes inoperable. There are limited charging stations and it takes a while to recharge. When I travel for vacation the distance I travel is farther than an electric car is able to travel. My gas driven car can refill in 5 minutes while the electric car can take up to 30 minutes or more. So, a one-day drive could turn into two days with an electric car.
