I support the policy that is proposed for low emission vehicles to gradually be made available for sale starting in 2026 with the goal of all new vehicles for sale to be EV in 2035. I am reminded of a saying that is relevant for this discussion. The best time to plant a tree was 20 years ago, the second best time is today. It is true that we should have been making our way towards low-to-zero emission vehicles decades ago, however the debate on climate change and humans' cumulative impact on our planet only delayed the process. The second best time to enact smart policies that will help mitigate our damage is now. Please move forward with this and with the pursuit of renewable energy.
