Please do not pass legislation that denies us the right to choose what type of car and fuel that we use to run that vehicle. We feel that the electric grid cannot possibly handle all the chargers that people would need to install at their homes much less the expenses of putting such chargers in. It is absurd to force that on lower to middle income families who are struggling with the economy and trying to feed and clothe their children and older folks on fixed incomes. Furthermore, Delaware would not be able to build enough chargers to handle all the influx of tourists who come to town needing to charge their cars added to the people who live here needing to use public chargers. And lastly, since there is no standard for these charging stations, it would be exorbitant in cost to put in enough of each kind of charger for all the public charging stations. It is a bad idea.
