Low emission vehicles are a key factor in reducing our ghg emissions and we need to prioritize their use. While there are still concerns with the infrastructure needs and guiding this transition, action is necessary. Climate change is already affecting many aspects of life in Delaware. By not supporting the transition to electric vehicles, we will be limiting our vehicle choices in Delaware as automakers move toward an EV market. Please work to bring as many people onboard but action must move forward and this regulation is a good first step.
