This plan is counterproductive to every aspect of our citizens lives. - Electric cars are too expensive for the average american or Delawarean. - They create tremendous waste as the batteries use up and need to be replaced with many new batteries, a hazardous material. - There is not proper support in place for recharging electric vehicles here, nor across the country and the expense of creating a system would be coming directly from the taxpayers. - Electric vehicles are not designed to tow or haul loads as gas driven vehicles do. I feel that electric vehicles should be available as a choice, but not a mandate to our people.
