I am opposed to the EV mandate by 2035. We have 5 cars in our family and have purchased all of them in DE. I don't feel EV's are at a point where they are dependable enough to put my children/ wife in on a daily basis and on trips back and forth to college in FL. Their security is paramount to me. A gradual approach as opposed to ramming this down our throats would be vastly more popular. If you continue to follow everything they do in CA our State is doomed. We will just buy our ICE vehicles in other less totalitarian States if we have to. I am sure this will fall on deaf ears, but sometimes you just have to speak out! Thank you.
