2022-R-A-0011: Delaware is NOT ready for the Electric Car Mandate. This is a foolish and short-sighted ambition. First of all, when you consider how materials for batteries. etc. are mined, developed and "recycled" electric cars are actually more harmful for the environment. Secondly, given Biden's inflation and wreck of an economy we are under, you would be cutting of the poor and middle class from accessing transportation, which would make getting jobs and simple things in life like groceries more difficult. Lastly, Delaware does not have the infrastructure to support this move and there are more pressing problems in our state that need attention and funding. Delaware is NOT ready for the Electric Car Mandate.
