I do not support the EV mandate. I think it tries to make DE change to an all EV state too quickly and will end up hurting "normal" residents, i.e. those that do now meet the exemptions and/or where electric bills will be impacted. I also don't see where a full evaluation has been made to determine the impacts on energy costs to fuel the EVs or how it will impact electricity demand. We already have blackouts during periods of high energy demands. What are we doing to improve the supply and distribution of electricity to support such a significant energy source shift? I am all for improving air quality but this is a bit much.
