Your mandate for electric cars is non sustainable. People can't afford them, there's no security that you will reach your destination without problems - especially in the winter. I believe you do not want people to be able to afford their own transportation at all. You plan on making everyone take mass transit or rely on the government for everything to be delivered. This administration is unbelievably ridiculous and is wasting whatever hard earned money we have been giving in taxes either with unsustainable ideas or sending it to Ukraine. What about the farmers? Are they supposed to run an electrical cord out to the fields if they need a charge? There is no one in this administration with any common sense. Why would we even want to do anything "like California"??? That state is in ruins because of Newsom. If someone wants an electric car - let them buy one. But if they don't - they should be forced to.
