To Whom it May Concern,

I worked my whole life, and do not need someone telling me what type of vehicle is rated the best for me personally to drive my grandchildren around my state in. Certainly would not want to be caught in any snowstorm or flooding in those "Electric Vehicles" as they do not run very good in extreme cold weather and flooding just blows up their batteries. So, if our government is truly concerned about our environment then they would not ask me to purchase an impractical vehicle!!!

Sincerely,

Cindy Lou Mutter
