I am against allowing DNREC and the executive branch under Gov Carney to unilaterally mandate and limit the availability of car choice in Delaware. This is too big a decision to just be mandated by DNREC. Instead, any changes and mandates related to car choice, economics, the environment, and timing should be debated in the legislature, voted on in the legislature, and if passed by the legislature, then it can signed into law or vetoed by the governor. I find the process of the DNREC mandate regarding electric vehicles to be heavy handed and I want this to be debated within our state. I believe voters will remember how their individual elected senators and representatives approach and deal with the current overreach of the executive branch.
