To whom it may concern, don't forget you we live in a constitutional Republic no Governor has the authority to force a people to do anything. I don't want an electric car you can't force me to buy one we don't have the infrastructure to handle it all the green energy projects in 2010 where a complete failure that we the people are paying for governments mistakes for 20 year with electric increases so absolutely no. California has rolling black outs Europe tried this and the countries are paying dearly for it this mandating by force is and will be another disaster. You people are not as smart as you think you can't save the planet only God can stop playing God there's only 1 and you people ain't it.
