This should not be something handled by DNREC. It should be put to a vote by all the voters in Delaware. The cars are not ready for full use. The electric grid can't keep up now. Definitely move towards more electric but don't do it with laws. I would never want an all-electric vehicle, it has been shown that if you get stuck in a snowstorm, you will have to get towed. How about getting stuck in a highway backup due to an accident? People will have to stop at motels and hotels because they need to charge the batteries. The cost of replacement batteries is exorbitant. What natural resources are we going to use to make the batteries? What are you going to do with the used batteries?
