I am a proponent of increasing electric vehicle usage and in fact purchased one myself in 2022. I like my car and enjoy driving it but the one issue I have (and it's a big one) is the lack of charging stations throughout Delaware. I can typically find a free "slow" charger but twice so far I've found myself stuck out driving with my battery charge diminishing. I was able to get to a free charger to plug in and then have someone pick me up but it would be much better if I could have spent a few minutes at a paid "fast" charger to get to the point where I can drive home and recharge fully. Right now the only option for fast charging in the state is for Teslas.
