I am not a proponent of the Electric Vehicle mandate and highly opposed to this legislation. The legislation will cause serious financial hardship for many people, primarily retirees who may be on a fixed income. The cost of an electric vehicle is significantly higher than the average cost of a gas-powered vehicle. Unless the state of Delaware is planning on offering discount or large tax incentives on these EV's, the legislation is highly problematic to the average consumer. How will you monitor vehicles from other states traveling in and out of Delaware that don't have similar rules?
