I am concerned for myself as well as our car dealerships in the state.

First off, how do you propose I tow my fifthwheel camper with an electric vehicle? There is no vehicles currently made for regular consumers that are big enough to safely tow a fifthwheel that weighs more than 16,000 pounds.

Secondly, once the car dealerships sell there percentage of gas vehicles, either figured by the month or year, what stops people going out of state to buy a vehicle then bring it back to Delaware or even register it in another state like Maine.

That would decrease the tax revenue for Delaware and completely destroy the car dealerships in the state.

I would appreciate a timely response to my concerns.

Thank you

David Osborne
