Comments:

I am not in favor of the proposed law to force everyone to buy electric cars in Delaware. In theory it all sounds good "clean energy, low emissions". But no one is telling the other side, the long term truth about batteries, rare earth minerals, where the electric is coming from etc. We are advised not to throw a aaa battery in the trash, what the heck are they going to do with all the spent car batteries? A mix of both electric and fuel run vehicles is the answer not banning all fuel run vehicles. It doesn't make sense to force one or the other when a mix of both is the best solution.
