Comments:

My first impression is that if I wanted to live like a Californian, I would move to California. Of course clean air and water is important to the citizens of this state, but we should also consider the cost vs benefit of this legislation to Delaware citizens. I have not seen any analysis in this proposal that considers the costs of implementing this proposal to the citizens of Delaware - both for their pocketbook (having to purchase the vehicle and installing the charging device) or commute and lifestyle challenges. Nor has the anticipated benefit to the environment been quantified. I believe we are already on a trajectory that will see more low emission opportunities but the timeline in this proposal appears to be arbitrary and not realistic. Please go back to the drawing board with respect to this issue and come up with a better recommendation.
