Comments:

Neither Delaware nor the rest of the nation is prepared with infrastructure to support electric vehicles. Batteries may be fine for around town, but totally unsatisfactory for a trip of 500 miles to visit my family. Production of these vehicles, from what I hear, may do more harm to the environment than the good it will do. The cost of electric vehicles and maintenance thereof is more than many people can afford. It should be my right to choose what kind of vehicle I drive! I am doing my part to protect the environment in other ways. Don't force this on me!
