I am NOT in favor of the low emissions vehicle mandate. They are setting too rapid a timeline to accomplish. We need MANY more charging stations available nationwide before this is mandatory. The cost is too prohibitive for middle and lower income people to afford these cars. The tax increase that will be needed to fund all these charging stations will be huge. What are all the people in apartments and condos going to do to recharge? Also people on vacation staying in hotels. There will never be enough charging stations available. And how and where are you going to recycle all those batteries? The cost of new batteries needs to come down greatly, as well as their charge capacity needs to increase. Please VOTE NO.
