Plug-in electric vehicles are fine for those who want them. PLEASE don't force them on the rest of us. We deserve to have freedom of choice! I've heard of many reasons why current plug-in cars are a problem, including fires and even explosions. I don't believe the current power grid can handle charging electric cars for everyone in the near future. I often drive long distance, stopping to charge along the way would be horrible. Minutes to refuel versus hours to charge would be a substantial burden.
