I am totally against the EV mandate. It makes no sense for our government to tell us how to live our lives and limit our ability to drive whatever type of vehicle we want. If you are so bent on EV's , provide education and let people make up their own minds. As a taxpayer I don't want my tax dollars going to subsidize this mess. How about having a plan before you kneejerk by following California who never considers the impact of their radical policies on the taxpayers of their state. We need the infrastructure , the raw materials to build the batteries (not buy the material from China) and a way to dispose of this material safely when its useful life is over . Let's see a plan! Have you done studies on how many small businesses you will put out of business as you implement this policy ! I am very disappointed in the Governer and DENREC , its a total lack of leadership in my opinion.
