The Low Emission Vehicle Program is a horrible proposal. Too much of anything is not a good thing. We need to be able to have an option of vehicles to purchase. If electric cars were so great, why have we been using gas cars for so long. I will tell you why, If the electric goes out, which it does all of the time, people will not be able to get to work. The cost of the cars are too expensive and most people will not be able to afford one. Also, when the battery dies, which they do often, you will then have to pay $5,000 to get another one and the one that died, is not being put into our landfill and then all of the chemicals in the batteries will seep into our water system, ground, etc. So you may think you are "helping the environment" by lowering gas emissions, but you are pretty much robbing Peter to pay Paul, by now contaminating another part of our environment. Please say no to this horrible program and allow the Delawareans to choose.
