Hi,

I am against this mandate for many reasons including higher home electric bill, cost to replace battery, potential for battery explode. Extra time needed to charge car while driving long distances. While driving through the night would not be comfortable stopping somewhere to charge my car at a gas station at 3 a.m. This is not safe particularly for women. Should have have to change driving habits just to be safe .

Biggest fear is losing power and not being able to charge vehicle and then having an emergency where I need the car.

Regards
