If you force us to go with these battery operated cars, you were taking our rights away from us the right to choose. These cars are going to be more expensive to maintain, and our electric bills are going to be sky high. I will not under any circumstance buy one of these cars. I do not trust them and I have heard nothing but negative about them. The government has put their nose in so much stuff now, that our rights are being taken away slowly it is not right and it needs to stop. You need to come up with other methods if you're worried about the ozone layer, or other hazards that our government has allowed to be created.
