Comments:

The repercussions of California's ill-advised mandates for vehicle emissions are only now coming into clearer focus, as the cliff which we seemed determined to drive over is getting closer. California seems well on its way to anarchy and self-destruction, with its progressive/liberal policies, encouraged by well-meaning, but largely scientifically illiterate voters. Why in the world would Delaware residents follow California over the cliff like a herd of lemmings. Delaware is NOT California. Let Delaware voters determine what is best for Delaware, and not un-elected, unaccountable bureaucrats in our state administration.
