The sale and mandait of EV is a joke. You the grid system can not support all of these houses and everything going up now now you want to line the pockets of power companies with more money by making people buy an EV. The other issue is where is the state going to put the batteries from these vehicles since they like to catch fire and even the fire departments dont have a way to put these fires out. This is a complete joke and this is why people are moving out of this state that have been here for years. The EV should be dropped and other issues fixed like helping people with electric for their houses since these piwer companies charge a shit load of money for electricity. Fix one problem first before creating more issues and the taxpayers getting fucked in the end.
