Dear Sir/Madam: Re: Strongly Oppose the Electrical Vehicle Sales Mandate I am writing to share my strong opposition to the planned Electrical Vehicle Sales Mandate from the Dept of Natural Resources and Environmental Control. Delaware does not need any more mandates. Residents of Delaware should never be forced to use the restrictions from California. This mandate was never voted on with the Delaware senate and representatives. This mandate was sent down as a decree from the Delaware governor. Using the fuels of gasoline and diesel should remain a viable option. The mass population cannot afford the cost of electrical vehicles. In addition, the electrical grid is not ready the future demands to go all electric. Think of the environmental impact of mining the natural resources and how to deal with the batteries after no longer able to be recharged. I hope there can still be a way to stop this Electrical Vehicle Sales Mandate. Sincerely, Paul W Missfeldt
