I and my husband, both strongly oppose enforcement of the proposed electric vehicle mandate. I certainly favor those that may CHOOSE to opt for an EV. However, mandating such an expensive idea would be a hardship on many Delaware residents to include the cost of the vehicle, replacement batteries and charging ports for home use.

In addition the increased danger to accident victims and our first responders adds significant cause for alarm for special training in dealing with electric vehicle hazard situations.

Also, where do all the batteries go when they are defective? Our landfills?

I dont believe forcing our residents to purchase a particular type of vehicle goes against freedom of choice.

Sincerely opponents of this proposed legislation,
