I believe that the new regulations proposed by the Delaware Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Control which require that 42% of new car sales must be electric starting in 2026 is a sound and wise policy. By following California's lead and adopting the California standards mandating an end to the sale in our state of newly manufactured gasoline vehicles in ten years, I believe that we in Delaware can mightily contribute to the greatest crisis of our time: global warming. And, oh by the way, our country will get rich(er) by the doing the right thing.
