It is not up to the government to decide what people can drive. EV aren't a good alternative just by the simple fact that they aren't as tried and true as a internal combustion. And going E doesn't remove our dependence on fossil fuel. It shifts it from one form to another. What about our electric bills? Is Delaware govt going to insure our costs stay low? Or is it going to be spend less at the pump but my utility bill exploded. Stop the charade and stop telling people how to live thier lives.
