Hello - I am not in favor of the Zero Emissions standards in discussion to be imposed upon the residents in the state of Delaware. The increases in population growth over the last several years; plus the influx of and increase in seasonal vacationers, will make it nearly impossible to find an adequate number of charging stations to sustain the demand. Let one the unfathomable demand on the electrical grid/infrastructure! By the way, the majority of power generated in the State of DE comes from coal plants and it's only a matter of time before our government shuts them down!!! Again, I am very much opposed to the Low Emission Vehicle Program!! DE is not CA!! Thank you for your consideration! Joe Redding Resident of Millsboro - Sussex Co.
