Dear Sir or Madam,

I am opposed to the Delaware Electric Vehicle Mandate. I do not believe it should be a mandate. I believe electric vehicles should be allowed into the market place and should compete for their share of the market along with conventional vehicles. If we, the people, choose to use them for specific areas of our lives, then their share will grow along with the facilities to use them such as charging stations both in public and at home. I think we need to have time to develop resources in our own country to be able to manufacture the critical components, such as batteries, at reasonable prices and to not have to depend on foreign countries to supply us with these items. Thank you for your kind consideration.
