Can the state demonstrate how the production of ev's as well as their electricity is offset? Will all ev's in the state be required to show that the electric fueling them is from a net zero source? Will the state be removing all of its gas and diesel fuel vehicles as well? What if any studies have been done to show the local electrical grid can handle further load? Will the state be showing any faith in this program by mandating state employees use ev's only? How much will this cost the tax payer? Does the state intend to address the enrichment to tyrannies like china by this ev mandate? What right does the state have to impose private ownership bans of this sort? What reason is there for this ban other than investor enrichment? Can the state prove the positive environmental impact? How does the state propose the vast amount of poor people in the state afford 100k vehicles? Will the state make it public which state representatives and employees are personally profiting from this venture? What are the state's plan for the businesses that will be affected by this move?
