

Subject: Electric Vehicle Mandate

Date: Wednesday, May 24, 2023 at 9:12:52 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Mike Ferris

To: HearingComments, DNREC (MailBox Resources)

I am totally opposed.

We have ample fossil fuel to accommodate our vehicles in the US.

The mandate would be a cumbersome and unnecessary travel burden if the US was not entirely committed. (And I pray not). How would you ensure safe and uninterrupted travel from and to and between states with different rules, regulations, and EV accommodations.

Why not start, if you must, with ALL govt vehicles going electric; postal, fire, police, support agencies, ALL government personnel including elected officials and office holders.

Let's see how that works first!

Thanks for listening!

Sent from my iPhone