This Mandate to force us into purchasing zero emission autos is INSANE! As stated many times our present electrical grid is unable to support the recharging of these vehicles. we actually are years away from being able to provide the necessary electric to recharge a massive amount of battery operated cars. I can't believe this mandate makes any sense for those of us who still operate and use gas driven autos. the cost of these zero emission autos is way above our ability to afford. I am retired and on a fixed income I can't imagine buying a 65,000. 00 dollar car and then having to pay roughly 4,000. to provide a fast charging station in my garage. we are probably 50 or so years away from being able to fulfill the ability to handle the recharging issue for EV autos. Climate change is hyped so much that it starting to appear as a total HOAX. If the powers to be are so concerned about ocean water rise , why do so many of these political Nabobs own Ocean front properties.? Please Explain that. Joe Biden has a huge gated property at the Delaware shore with a 600,000 thousand dollar fence around it. provided by my tax money. Besides that Joe doesn't own a EV auto. Please reject this proposal. Stephen Bilinski
