Absolutely against this electric controversy w/o proper thought,into the long range problems it may incur.

As usual the Government is jumping into something that absolutely needs more investigating on long term range of problems. The cost is already astronomical, and it seems that some of the long term problems have (NOT) been addressed.I could go on and list all the things that could go wrong right here.(BUT) you know as well as I do, nobody will take the time to read it anyway.

Sincerely William Hays
