Good afternoon, With regards to electric vehicles I believe the idea is patently ludicrous. It has been proven time and again that: *EVs are unreliable especially in wintertime *The batteries cost nearly as much as the car. *You have no plan what to do with the spent batteries and the pollution they will cause. *There is insufficient electrical infrastructure to handle the increased demand the EVs represent. *The price of the EVs will put them out of reach of everyday citizens. Thank you for your time.
