Your suggested regulations are disastrous to the citizens of Delaware. It's wrong for you to ignore the will of the people and impose the foolishness of California here. The batteries of EVs are toxic when they are done with no safe way to dispose of them at that time. 'Green' energy is a fun buzzword that makes you feel good while you ignore the child labor that it takes in some far distant country to mine the rare earth materials needed to create the batteries. You also ignore the source of the power to supply the EV batteries, as well as the power grid that is insufficient for your mandates. You aren't supposed to rule the citizens of Delaware. You are supposed to serve them. Please abandon these unwanted mandates.
