I've been following the path of the electric vehicle mandate as it has made its way through the legislative process. I have commented to my representatives to let them know that I oppose any legislation that would require that the sale of internal combustion vehicles be outlawed in Delaware. As a senior citizen, I have no desire to ever purchase an electric vehicle. I have chosen to use over the years fuel efficient, low emission vehicles to do my part to improve the environment in Delaware and the mid-Atlantic area. Since I only have a short time left on earth and live on a limited income, I don't wish to use my time and income to support a pipe dream. Most people do not want to be forced to buy an EV and that is what this legislation is designed to do. Last time I looked we live in the United States of America where free choice is guaranteed by the Constitution. If electric vehicles are so good then let the market decide. Americans and Delawareans are smart and usually make the right choice for their future. Decisions made by the Delaware Legislature over the recent past have made life more expensive and difficult for the senior citizens that choose to live in the state. If you want seniors to stay in the state, laws passed should make life easier for seniors not more difficult so as to force them to move to states that are more senior friendly.
