I am the average male consumer and I wonder how the average person can afford these vehicles? Initial cost is high and repair bills are even higher! Resale value of these vehicles is low because of the pending repair bills! I.e new batteries. I just don't see the good in this proposal? Maybe the rich should help the environment by not flying private planes or vacationing on there private yachts! These bills only help the rich and hurt the middle class just like always!! Rich get richer and poor get poorer! Although my comments fill fall on deaf ears at least I voiced them!
