I am not against EVs, however, that is not my choice in vehicle at the moment. I am retired as is my husband and being on fixed incomes we are not in position to be FORCED to buy a new EV. My husband suffers from metastatic lung melanoma - it costs already too much in running for tests and Drs treatments and the SOD now wants to mandate EVs ? No not in my book, that should be a choice as part of our rights to pursuit our happiness in the way we want. I invite you ppl making these mandates to get out your check book and personally write me a check for a new EV. Our vehicles have long been paid for and we do not expect to be forced to buy a new vehicle at our age. Most ppl I know are against mandates- they are not purposeful to ppl in our situation - respectfully submitted - Donna Stuart
