Why the rush to electric car + other things. I haven't even heard the research on the electric grids & the process to stop these batteries from blowing up. We had a recent one burn down the families home and golf cart , cars and everything lost. It's an outrage! There is no communication on problems, and costs involved. Police, firemen risk their lives for what!!!? I've heard that the fireman can't even access the batteries in the car nor take them. An environmental company needs too. Who pays for this tragedy?

This is typical of this electrical mandate with no testing, from building it to disposal of them and costs.

It needs to stop and work on the efficiency in fueled cars.
