Comments:

I am against any mandate that requires me to buy any vehicle much less, an EV. The government does not belong in this decision. I am not anti-EV. Any American who can afford it should be able to buy one. It's their money. I am simply anti-mandate; especially without proper due diligence, forward thinking, planning or being thoroughly familiar with the state and US constitution. This is an example of the cart before the horse on an epic level.
