Instead of limiting anterless days to Fridays Saturdays and Sundays how about just getting rid of the anterless days all together. I have been hunting in Delaware for 10 years and I have never talked to a hunter who actually liked these days. Sure there are some hunters who hunt during these days but alot of them would be in the hunting with a bow if it was a normal archery day. Another thing the October anterless days do is make it very confusing as to when you have to wear orange and what areas are open for the anterless days. I do agree though that if they stay we should be able to use a straightwall rifle. Also are there any plans to open a public discussion about the trail camera ban? There was no public comment before this happened.
