I do not agree with the approval of windmills going in near the Fenwick, Bethany and Ocean City Beaches for a number of reasons. There has not been enough research in the US to prove these do not endanger wildlife and eco system. There is nothing in place should these fail and cleanup be necessary which recently happened in RI. The infrastructure system is Sussex County has not been addressed so we do not have enough roads (or Drs) for the growth influx and new housing taking the place of farm land, as well as major flooding to contend with (breach of dunes in Rt 1 and all bay streets in Fenwick). This should be the priority of the government to fix or there will be no homes in 10-20 years. Additionally vacationers will stop coming to DE which has huge financial implications and homes will be of little value. I am disappointed with all the negative publicity and towns speaking out against this that a decision was made to move forward especially since NJ will not be doing this project. It's time Government stood up to protect our beaches and infrastructure before building windfarms.
