I oppose offshore wind anywhere along the Delmarva coast, especially Delaware. The implications of sea life destruction, aesthetic degradation of our coastline, and reduction in national security are all reasons for denial. The cost of installation and return in investment are all negative aspects of off shore wind. Maybe DNREC should contact Virginia to see their results on offshore wind. Nobody wants this except for the people who stand to make money off of this project. This should be an item put up for public vote in the next election and then the public's voice can be heard. This is just like the EV mandate that you are trying to shove down our throats, listen to the science and the people.
