Comments:

The proposed offshore wind farm represents a significant threat to both our local community and the delicate coastal ecosystem that sustains it. With no tangible benefits for residents, such as job creation or energy cost savings, the project appears to prioritize corporate interests over the well-being of our community. Instead of enhancing our quality of life, the wind farm would disrupt the pristine beauty of our coastline, deterring tourists who flock to our shores for their natural allure. Furthermore, the construction and operation of these turbines could wreak havoc on local marine life, disturbing habitats and potentially leading to the decline of crucial species that are vital to our ecosystem and economy. The risks far outweigh any potential gains, making it clear that this offshore wind farm is not a suitable solution for our community or the environment we cherish.
